SEE-SAY-WRITE

Method of Teaching

The Cherokee Language

INTRODUCTION

This method of teaching the Cherokee Language is an expansion from the Cherokee Syllabary Workbook by Durbin Feeling. It will simplify the teaching of Cherokee for the speaker of Cherokee and the non-speaker of Cherokee. All three major areas of learning are utilized which include Visual (See), Auditory (Say), and Kinesthetic (Write). However, the teacher should remain flexible to allow for individual differences.

PLAN

Students will be able to improve their ability to speak, read, and write the Cherokee language using the SEE-SAY-WRITE method. The lessons are designed to be presented in eight sessions of ten lessons per session, with the exception of the eighth session which will have fourteen lessons. At the end of each session there will be several enrichment activities to be completed in class, or at home if time does not permit. The enrichment activities that are done at home are to be completed before the next class. Also, a review exercise will be given at the end of each session to check progress of lessons completed.

At the end of the eighth session, the students should be able to read and write the Cherokee language. They will have practiced writing each character, and recognizing the sound it represents, combining characters to form words, and completing all enrichment activities. The entire plan is to use repetition as one way of instilling into the students' memory the characters of the syllabary, so they will be able to SEE-SAY-WRITE the Cherokee language.

Also included are additional lessons to give the students more practice in reading, writing, and speaking the Cherokee language by employing useful phrases: names of animals, days of the week, months of the year, counting to ten, and names of communities. A review exercise will follow each session to check progress of lessons completed. Allow three sessions to complete these lessons.

METHOD

- I. Pre-test students: The pre-test will be given at the beginning of the first session. The pre-test is designed to discover what each student knows about reading and writing the Cherokee language.
- II. Cherokee Syllabary Chart: Introduction of the Cherokee syllabary is made at the beginning of the first session by familiarizing the sounds represented by the characters in each column.
- III. Using the SEE-SAY-WRITE Workbook: The workbook will be distributed to each student during the first session and will be used for all lessons. Allow students to acquaint themselves with the workbook, and explain to students that they should practice reading, writing, and saying the characters that have already been learned during previous sessions. Also, there will be several enrichment activities to be completed following each session.

- I. As each new character is introduced, write it at the top of the chalkboard. Repeat with each new character until all characters in allotted lessons are included. At the end of the session, have students repeat the characters as a group until all characters have been learned. Also, have individual students say the characters if time permits. Say the sound of the character as it is being written, have students write the characters as they say the sound it represents to reinforce their learning.

ENRICHMENT ACTIVITIES

The enrichment activities are designed to motivate and reinforce what has already been learned by giving students fun things to do. The enrichment activities are based on what was previously taught in class, and will follow each class session. The enrichment activities are done in class, or as home assignments if time does not allow. After the completion of all the enrichment activities, the students should be able to recognize, read, and write the Cherokee language.

The enrichment activities are designed to give the students a variety of word or character recognition.

The enrichment activities include: word search, drills, review exercises, fill in missing letters, matching exercises, word scramble, sentence completion, syllabary exercises, and crossword puzzles. The enrichment activities will give the students practice in Seeing-Saying-Writing the Cherokee language.

POST TEST

Conduct the post test after the last session is completed. The post test is the same as the pre-test. This is done to measure progress of lessons learned.

ACTIVITIES

First session:	Pre-Test; Lessons 1-10 Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Second session:	Lessons 11-20; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Third session:	Lessons 21-30; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Fourth session:	Lessons 31-40; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Fifth session:	Lessons 41-50; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Sixth session:	Lessons 51-60; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Seventh session:	Lessons 61-70; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises
Eighth session:	Lessons 71-84; Enrichment Activities, Review Exercises

GUIDE TO SYLLABARY CHART PRONUNCIATION

The Cherokee syllabary chart is designed to give the students a guide for pronunciation of each syllable by using the Consonant + Vowel (CV), and the Consonant - Consonant + Vowel (CCV) system of forming the Cherokee syllables.

On the left side of the chart beginning at line #2 and continuing through line #13, are the consonants (in English alphabetical order) used in Cherokee speech. At the top of the chart beginning column #1 and continuing through column #6, are the vowels.

Pronunciation of the Cherokee characters are determined by combining the appropriate consonants found on the left side of the chart, with the appropriate vowels found across the top of the chart. An example is the Cherokee word “hello” written with the syllables ᎠᎢᎦ. The first step is to find the character Ꭰ in the chart. It is located in the first line and in the fourth column. The phonetic spelling for Ꭰ is “o.” The next step is to find the character Ꭲ in the chart, which is located in the 11th line, and in the 3rd column. By combining the consonant “s” with the vowel “i,” we have “si.” The final syllable Ꭶ is found in line #13, and column #4. We combine the consonant “y” with the vowel “o” and we have “yo.” The Cherokee word for “hello” can thus be written syllabically ᎠᎢᎦ, or phonetically “osiyo.” The Cherokee character of a particular sound is always located in the chart where the consonant and the vowel intersect.

The syllable ᎠᎠ found in the first cell of line #11 is an exception which stands alone as a consonant. Example in which the ᎠᎠ is used in Cherokee words are the words for “five” ᎠᎠᎵ, “hisgi,” and “ten” ᎠᎠᎠ, pronounced “sgohi.”

Many of the Cherokee syllables have a “soft” and “hard” initial consonantal sounds combining with vowels, such as “da” and “ta,” “dla” and “tla,” “ga” and “ka,” “ja” and “cha,” etc. Many times these sounds are represented by the same Cherokee syllabic character such as are found in lines 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7 in the chart. For instance the words for “winter” in Cherokee can be written “AW” (pronounced gola). The same spelling AW (pronounced kola) can be used for the word “bone(s).” The only difference being the “soft - g” sound and the “hard - k” sound. In order to distinguish between the “soft” and the “hard” sounding initial consonant of a syllable, the reader should refer to the phonetic transcription directly below the syllabic writing.

Lines 10, 12 and 13 are similarly peculiar. Syllables in these lines can be pronounced “na,” “wa,” “ya” etc. Or, they can have an aspiration (a “breathy” sound) initially with each syllable (hna, hwa, hya), depending on the context in which it is used.

Example: Traditionally, the Cherokee word for “his room” is written ᎠᎢᎠᎠ and pronounced “uyvsdi.” The same spelling ᎠᎢᎠᎠ can also mean “strong tasting” when the second syllable is aspirated initially: “uhyvsdi.” Likewise, as in the case of the “hard” and “soft” sounds, the reader is referred to the phonetic transcription.

PRE-TEST

Write the Cherokee word in the space next to its English equivalent.

PRONUNCIATION GUIDE

The following is a list of the Roman Alphabet used in Cherokee speech: a, ch, d, e, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, s, t, u, v, w, y. The consonant sounds are the same as in English. The vowel sounds used in Cherokee speech have only one sound for each:

a, as in ah
e, as in they i, as in ski

o, as in note
u, as in true
v, as in huh

By combining the consonants and vowels listed by lines and columns in the chart, the correct pronunciation for each Cherokee syllable can be produced.

Example: The pronunciation for Ꮖ (line 7, column 1) is “ja.” Ꮝ (line 8, column 1) is “la,” and Ꮆ (line 4, column 3) is pronounced “gi” (as the gy” in “buggy”).

Exceptions to the rule that Cherokee syllables are produced by combining consonants and vowels are the syllables D R T Ꭰ Ꭱ Ꭲ (line 1), and the Ꮰ (line 11, column 1). The characters in line 1 are produced by the single vowel sounds; and the character Ꮰ is simply an “s” sound.
